From the Professor of Military Science

Alumni, Family, Friends and Cadets of the Golden Eagle Battalion,

Happy New Year and thank you to all alumni and families as we celebrate another semester and report on a very successful and exciting semester in Beautiful Milwaukee! I hope this newsletter finds you well and excited to learn what our Golden Eagle Cadets have done this past fall.

We are extremely proud of our outstanding Cadet Leaders and all they have accomplished. As you may know Cadet Command made significant changes to our Leader Development Program. It is quickly changing summer training opportunities and improving developmental opportunities to prepare our Leaders for the Army and Global environment of 2025. WE must build adaptable, flexible leaders that can “Thrive in Chaos”!

We prepared our Cadets to Thrive in Chaos by changing how we do our Leader Development Exercise (LDX), constantly changing the environment and forcing the Cadets to think. At our Dining-In they demonstrated their ability to think with four exceptional and inventive skits, enabling a phenomenal overall event.

Our four Ranger Challenge teams impressed again with our 9 Person and 5 Female Teams winning TF McCoy. Our UW-Milwaukee Team fielded its first 9 person team and outshined many of the twelve other teams, placing 6th overall. The 5 person Marquette Team just missed first with a great second place showing. At the Brigade Ranger Challenge competition the 9 Person Team tied for Second, Placing Third, and the 5 Female Team placed second. Both are equivalent to “Sweet Sixteen” in the Nation. What an amazing Ranger Challenge Season increasing our streamer count significantly. Come see our Ranger Challenge wall of Trophies and Streamers!

We then conducted our most precious and important alumni event; Veterans Day Wall of Fame Induction and Contracting Ceremonies on 11 November. We were honored to induct MG Michael Berzowski, a 1962 UW Milwaukee Bachelor of Business Administration graduate, and COL Richard Mackey, a 1969 Marquette Bachelor of Arts in History graduate, into our Wall of Fame. Additionally, Dorothy Dey presented the Battalion two Quilts of Valor on behalf of CSM Bunting and COL Dey; these Quilts currently hang in our COL Edward Dey Memorial Library. Furthermore, we formally contracted 27 Cadets in front of their Parents and Families!

This semester we’ll continue to prepare our Cadets for success and thriving in chaos with the following events: Northern Warfare Challenge, Military Ball, Operation Stand down, German Armed Forces Proficiency Badge Challenge, Notre Dame Basketball Tournament, Combined LDX, Spring LDX, and Ranger Buddy Challenge.

Finally, we invite you to attend a celebration on 27 April 2015 that marks the 64th anniversary of General Douglas MacArthur receiving the honorary doctor of laws degree from Father Edward O’Donnell, S.J. at Marquette football stadium. We will honor General MacArthur and the recognize the longstanding support of Marquette University to Our Military and its student Cadets as demonstrated in the three officer training programs going back to 1918.

I must thank the Golden Eagle Battalion Alumni and Family Action Network for their incredible contributions to the program. Without the leadership and efforts of our alumni and parents our program would not be as strong as it is today. We are very thankful for your time and donations that greatly benefit your cadets!

I am so thankful for the opportunity to continue to lead your Golden Eagle Cadets and future Leaders of America!

Forged From Gold, Eagles Break the Mold!

LTC Michael Gibson

Family Action Network (FAN Club)

Cadets anxiously await a plateful of food provided by the Family Action Network Club after arriving back at Marquette following their rigorous three day Fall Leadership Development Exercise (Above).

How to Get Involved

The Family Action Network (FAN Club) provides support to our Cadets through fundraising for the battalion, providing meals after training exercises, equipment for the battalion, and stockings before Christmas break. You can find more information about the FAN Club at www.goldeneaglebattalion.org or by contacting the Club President, Mr. David Davel, at daveadavel@gmail.com.

Fall Leadership Development Exercise

From September 19-21, Cadets of the Golden Eagle Battalion traveled to Ft. McCoy, WI, to participate in the Fall Leadership Development Exercise. They trained on Land Navigation, Marksmanship, and much more! The Cadets built confidence and camaraderie with obstacle courses and problem solving as well.

Fall Leadership Labs

The Fall semester Leadership Labs are generally geared to teaching Cadets individual soldier skills. These include drill and ceremony, map reading and land navigation skills, individual movement techniques, basic rifle marksmanship, combat water survival training, and basic tactics. By the end of the semester, Cadets have a firm grasp on how to operate as an individual and prepare to learn how to function and operate at the team, squad, and platoon levels and conduct multiple operations. Our Cadets did a great job this semester and are eager to move to the next stage of their training!

MSIII Cadet Arnquist is busy getting the distance and direction for his squad to move during an early morning lab.

During the final lab of the Fall semester, Cadets were challenged with realistic training on dealing with indigenous peoples of Middle-Eastern culture. Many Cadets learned new and important information about middle-eastern culture that will serve them well. MSIV Cadet Roessler gets into character (above) in order to conduct a key leader engagement (KLE) with cadets. The more realistic training helps focus Cadets on the seriousness of these meetings with indigenous peoples not just in the Middle East, but all over the world.

WISN 12 News Coverage

Reporter Hillary Mintz of WISN 12 News covered the Golden Eagle Battalion's nursing leadership lab on November 14, 2014. WISN 12 both aired their spot as well as put an article on the training on their website. The article and video can be viewed at <http://www.wisn.com/news/marquette-rotc-cadets-receive-special-combat-first-aid-training/29730272>. WISN 12 News' video can also be found on their YouTube site.

It was a great opportunity for the Battalion to showcase the great leadership training that our Cadets receive. Both MSI Cadet Feifar and SFC Goggins (our Training NCO) were interviewed.

Summer Abroad—Haiti

Nursing Cadet Rachael DeMeulenaere was featured in the front page of the Gesu Parish Bulletin, along with a featured story attending the mission trip to Mon Opatel, Haiti, in the summer of 2014. She documented the field work performed during the week long mission trip, which included helping the impoverished and underprivileged in a country still devastated by the significant loss of life and economic stability following the earthquake. Just ask her! Rachael would be glad to share her story, and provide insight into how many of the NGOs work in tandem with the U.S. Military to assist countries in need of our support. Above you see a picture of the front page of the Sunday, September 28th, 2014, picturing Cadet DeMeulenaere with some of the children of Haiti, following a clothing drive for kids. Notice how she has her water bottle in hand, practicing proper hydration in an austere environment so that she does not compromise her civilian mission! Soldier skills are helpful, no matter where you are in the world! Drink water!

Shadow Days

From November 13-14 and February 6-7, Cadets of the Golden Eagle Battalion hosted 28 high school Shadow Students from across the country, some as far away as Washington state! These students were hosted by Cadets who were in the same undergraduate study program as the shadow was interested in. These shadows arrived early in the morning, just in time to participate in the Combat Water Survival Training or PT! Following their training, the shadows and their hosts went through all the classes that their host would normally attend. They then had an informational brief hosted by the MSIV's that expounded on all the extra-curricular ROTC activities. Following the brief, they all had dinner at the Marquette Annex. It was a great opportunity for the students to discuss their individual experiences up to that point. After going back to their host's dormitories for the night, the cadets and students participated in the Nursing Lab training that was covered by WISN 12 News or a lab where students were taught how to enter and clear rooms. Each shadow student was inserted into a squad with their host and got hands on with all the ROTC training. We hope to see all of them as incoming freshman in 2015!

Dining-In

U.S. Army Dining-In traditions have strong ties to the British Army prior to the American Revolution. The oldest recorded American Dining-In occurred in September 1776. The custom of dining together was especially useful in large units where many officers did not normally come in contact with one another. However, during dinners they were brought together in a fraternal atmosphere. While the mess served a functional purpose it also served as a constant source of satire and junior officer horseplay.

At the Golden Eagle Battalion Dining-In, we continue the tradition of satire through the grog ceremony and class skits. During the grog ceremony, we combine ingredients that represent the blood, sweat, and tears from the soldiers before us. If someone gets “called out” for something and he or she does not have a rebuttal, they have to drink from the grog. Additionally, each Military Science class puts together a skit filled with innocent teasing about members of other classes, Cadre, or events. This year, the skits were especially hilarious, and everyone enjoyed the good-hearted teasing. After the grog ceremony and skits, our guest speaker, MAJ Jansen, talked to us about the role of an officer, and learning how to “grow where we are planted.” His words were interesting and enlightening.

Dining-In is important to the GEB because it facilitates camaraderie and friendship amongst all cadets. It is a time where we all get to come together and enjoy food and entertainment away from the hectic nature of school and ROTC. Overall, Dining-In is a fun way to celebrate and wrap up the fall semester.
